

Supplementary Figure 6. Enriched neutrophils and T helper 2 cells were associated with diabetes during tuberculosis. (A, B) Enrichment of neutrophils and T helper 2 (Th2) cells between tuberculosis patients with diabetes and without diabetes respectively. Cell enrichment was performed using xCell deconvolution method. The statistical analysis was performed using Mann-Whitney test, and the corresponding P-value was displayed on each plot along with median and inter-quartile range boxes.